JASON 190 7th February, 1945

For Foreign Office from Foreign Secretary.

At my first talk with M. Molotov on February 4th Agenda of the Conference was discussed, and he indicated that the Soviet Government for their part wished to discuss Germany and for the rest preferred that there should be no fixed Agenda, though they were willing to consider suggestions from our side.

2. At first Plenary Meeting (Political) on February 5th, the President suggested that political questions about Germany should first be discussed, and Marshal Stalin said that he would like the following questions to be considered:

(a) Dismemberment of Germany.

(b) Did we propose to set up a Government or Governments in Germany or only some form of administration?

Soviet troops overtake Berlin as a soldier raises the Russian flag over the Reichstag to proclaim Allied victory. The red army captured Berlin and the German high commanders surrendered on May 8, 1945, more than a week after Hitler's suicide. This event brought the European war to an end. It was a costly victory for the U.S.S.R. which has lost over 27 million lives in the conflict, most of them civilian. In addition, tracts of land in the western Soviet Union were devastated. Nevertheless, the U.S.S.R. emerged from the war as the second most powerful military in the world.

Chinese Billboard Promotes Birth Control

Since the 1980s, China has adopted a stringent natality policy, the so-called one-child-per-family policy to help curb the rapid population growth caused by Mao Tse-tung's (Mao Zedong's) advocation of large families. From 1949 to 1980 the population of China increased from about 500 million to more than 800 million. The one-child policy has been successful (mainly in urban areas,

Buddhist Monks Celebrate the Chinese New Year Before the Lama Temple

A Buddhist monk beats a drum during a New Year ceremony at the Lama Temple in Beijing, China, in 1999. They beat on drums to drive away evil spirits as part of an elaborate festival. In the early 1900s, the New Year celebration lasted fifteen days, from the new moon of the first month until the full moon, when the Lantern Festival began. When the People's Republic of China was established
